The House of Gaztromanov

List of characters: (Name of actor cast in the role)

Phil M. Aker ()

He is a bachelor of Scottish descent in his late 40's and a screen writer, best known for his wildly popular movie Bold Spleen 1, a film adaptation of the successful novel of the same name, published by Blanc Papier Publishing. He was recently hired to work on the making of Bold Spleen 2, the sequel.

Gabby Buttinski ()

“Advice” columnist for The Daily Papier, owned by Blanc Papier Publishing. She is estranged from her husband, who ran away to join a silent order of monks. She is God-Mother to Merry Storry.

Hope Däscher()

A 29 year old single female book reviewer for Blanc Papier Publishing, known for her sharp tongue, acerbic wit and critical reviews – traits which have contributed to Tier Yurker's hatred of her. She is a vamp and inclined to flirt and have affairs with older men. Her best friend is Bic Pentameter with whom she attended school.

Thor Gasm (Walter Davies)

A 29 year old single male author of short stories for Stud Boy magazine, known for his sleazy use of his friends for writing material. He is a gambling and drinking buddy of Redd Heiring. He is the adopted son of Blanc Papier and the ex-husband of Merry Storry.

Redd Heiring ()

A bachelor in his late 50's; the celebrated author of “The House of Gaztromanov” – the best selling literary book ever published by Blanc Papier Publishing. Before his stunning success with “The House of Gaztromanov”, he was known as an unsuccessful writer of detective mysteries – rip-offs in the style of Mickey Spillane. He is a gambling and drinking buddy of Thor Gasm.

Lotta Papier ()

The 45 year old owner of Lotta Livres Book Store and widow of Blanc Papier. She is the twin sister of Fried Tomaine and the older sister of Bic Pentameter. By virtue of Blanc Papier's death, she is inheritor of Blanc Papier Publishing House.

Bic Pentameter ()

A 29 year old single male, gay and recently out of a relationship with Thor Gasm. He is the younger brother of Lotta Papier and Fried Tomaine. His best friend is Hope Däscher, the only book reviewer who admires his work. He is a published poet with Blanc Papier Publishing but his poetry is not well respected. The other guests think he's only been published because Blanc Papier was married to his sister Lotta.

Merry Storry ()

A twice divorced British woman in her late 50's. Her first marriage, which ended badly, was to Thor Gasm. Her second marriage was to Fried Tomaine, with whom she is still friendly. She is a highly successful and respected children's author published by Blanc Papier Publishing. Gabby Buttinski is her God-Mother.

Fried Tomaine (Rick Caslake)

The 45 year old owner and head chef of the Pewlitzer Pies Café and recipient of the Pewlitzer Prize for Pizza Pies. He is the twin brother of Lotta Papier and the older brother of Bic Pentameter. He was once married to Merry Storry.

Tier Yurker ()

A single wealthy woman in her 60s, of Russian descent. She has never married and is a hugely successful romance novelist published by Blanc Papier Publishing. She is a mother figure to Lotta Papier, who is one of her biggest fans. She hates Hope Däscher, the book critic, who once gave her a bad book review.
